County Chamber of Commerce Honors Four Indiana "Cyclone" Guardsmen

Four members of the Headquarters Company of the 38th Infantry Division, National Guard, were honored Tuesday afternoon at a luncheon attended by 25 prominent Grayling business men at the Grayling Golf Club.

Also in attendance was Col. Howard Ahner, Asst. Adjutant General of Indiana, who spoke briefly giving credit to the Guardsmen's enlisted men and thanking Grayling for the fine welcome and treatment that the area has shown the Indiana Guardsmen.

The four men were selected to receive the Crawford County Chamber of Commerce enlisted men's award for service to several injured people in an auto accident.

While on their way to Camp Grayling from Indiana, the Headquarters Company stopped for lunch near the intersection of M-66 and US-13. A civilian car approaching 131 on 60 apparently did not see the stop sign until the last second. In attempting a quick stop he lost control of the car and it overturned. Sp. 4 Jack Melbourn, Sp. 4 Crval Swegman, Sp. 5 James Sheldon and Pfc. Arny Newhouse, all of Indiana, aided in getting the car and driver out of the ditch and helped the two occupants who were injured.

Each of the quartet received a cigarette lighter with their name engraved along with their unit. The Company received a Bear

Plan Donkey Ball Game

A donkey ball game is being planned for Sunday August 2, at the diamond at the Grayling Memorial Recreation Area. Game time has been set for 8 p.m. with Smiggen's meeting the Plaza Oldtimers. Admission has been set at 75¢ for adults, 25¢ for children under 12 and 50¢ for adults with children under 12 years of age admitted free.

The pitcher and catcher are not mounted, they stand in a circle and the pitcher cannot field any balls unless he can reach the circle. The batter is not mounted and must hit the ball fair and then mount one of the baserunner donkeys held at home plate. He then proceeds in the general direction of first base. The ball is a white circle 4 feet in diameter and must ride the circle into this first base circle. Base runners are called safe or out depending on their ability in getting one or four feet of the donkey into the circle or base. Base runners and the not the donkey must be tagged to make a putout on second, third or home. The rider if trapped between bases can dodge or duck from bases and return to an open base. At times the crowd really see a sensational slide into a base when the donkey stops short and heads in the opposite direction.

The outfield and infield must be mowed when the pitch is made. He can on a hit, ride, pull or push his donkey to the ball, hang on to the reins with one hand, and remount before throwing it. At no time can the players leave the field to get the ball. The baserunner after hitting the ball fair jumps on his donkey and proceeds around bases. If he falls off and holds to his reins he has three chances to mount and ride. If he is on the ground and does not have hold his reins he is out.

Quite often the fielder will be in arms length of the ball and not be able to budge. "Mr. Donk" makes a struggle between the rider and "Mr. Donk." In the meantime the batter may be in right, center or left field according to the donkeys judgment as to where the best place is. He also doesn't like his looks or decides the weight on his back is not satisfactory to him.

The whole show is a scream and bound to please.

48c Of Dollar For Food, Cars Locally

(Special to the Avalanche)

New York, July 13 — The changing times are producing corresponding changes in the way in which residents of Crawford County are spending their money.

Because local incomes have been rising faster than the cost of living, the average family has been able to eat better, to dress better and to add to its expenditures for recreation and for hobbies.

The data on local spending ability and spending habits comes from a nationwide survey made by the Standard Rate and Data Service. It emphasizes given by the consumer to such items as food, clothing, house furnishings, autos and general merchandise.

Most of the money spent in Crawford County's retail stores in the past year, it was found, went for food and for automotive equipment, which includes new and used cars, auto accessories, boats and motorcycles.

Such purchases accounted for 48 cents of every retail dollar. That was more than was spent for them in most parts of the United States.

Expenditures in local bakeries, groceries, meat markets and other food stores came to $1,304,000 in the year.

It amounts to $866 per household if divided equally among the local population.

Not included in the total is the money spent in restaurants, soda fountains and the like for on-the-premises food and drink.

The stores selling cars and other automotive equipment accounted for $1,538,000 in the year. It represented 26 cents of the retail dollar.

Although people were restrained, for the most part, in their spending because of the business depression, most retail lines held up well. Some fared better than others.

The local stores selling general merchandise grossed $1,289,000, equal to 21 cents of the dollar.

Sales of clothing, shoes and other apparel came to $223,000, or 4 cents.

Home furnishings stores had a $130,000 volume, equivalent to 2 cents of the dollar.

In general, it is found, a smaller part of the family income is required these days to pay for the basic necessities. The result? More being used for the things that make for easier and more pleasant living.

Tight Race Shapes Up In County League

By John D. Schofield

A tight race has shaped up in the Crawford County Softball League, as the final one third of the regular season begins this week. Smiggen's is still in first place by a single game, about the same margin they have held since the start of the season. Right behind the leaders, Spikes and the Plaza are in a deadlock for second.

A very important game in this race takes place on Friday night when Spikes and the Plaza clash. The loser of this game will probably be all but eliminated from any hopes of a league championship.

Bear Archery, about the hottest team in the league at the present time, has grabbed the lead in the battle for fourth place. The Archers have won four of their last five games. The rest of the teams Chevrolet, Ausable-Souvenir and the Grayling Merchants are strung out in that order a single game apart.

In some of the games last week Smiggen's was almost surprised by Frederic, but emerged an 8-7 winner. Ausable lost another one run decision to Bear Archery this time by a score of 7-6. Spikes won a close 6-3 game from the Archers and followed up with a win over the Grayling Merchants.

In another close game the Plaza Oldtimers stopped Chevrolet by a 4-2 margin.

The first serious injury of the occurred on Friday night. Don Smock, hard hitting shortstop of the Oldtimers suffered a broken leg in an infield war with the Archers. This is a serious blow to the Plaza in their battle for first place. The entire league is sorry to hear of this misfortune to a good competitor and a willing worker.

This is the time of the year when all the teams start looking ahead to the playoffs, especially those teams in the second divisions. The city playoffs will be operated the same as last year. Single elimination, with the finals being a best-of-three series. They will begin on August 24 and run to September 4. In the first round the team which finishes second in the regular season will play the fifth place team. The winners will play fourth place, and third and sixth will play. Seventh place finishers will be awarded a bye in the playoffs as a "bobby" in the playoffs.

The city field has been reserved by Bear Archery for a game this Saturday night. They will take on the Roscommon team that downed league leading Smiggen's by a 4-3 score last week.

Smiggen Splits With Muskegon Over Week End

In a pair of exhibition softball games played over the week end, Smiggen's of the Crawford County Softball League split with the Twin Lakes team of the Muskegon League.

Twin Lakes took the Saturday night game by a 1 to 0 score before a good-sized crowd.

On Sunday, Smiggen's blasted out a 12 to 8 win over the visitors before a much smaller crowd. The Muskegon team smashed out two home runs in a losing cause. Last year, the Twin Lakes team came up for a twin bill on Saturday and Sunday with the visitors blanking Smiggen's 8 to 0 on Saturday and the losers came back on Sunday to gain a split with a 4 to 2 decision.

Elmer Kellogg, former Grayling and Frederic resident, was expected to come out of camp Grayling and take part in the 4th annual "Iron Horse" relay race, which will be held on Friday night and day is the Military Police Detachment, the Provost Marshall's unit, part of the Public Information Office section and the Signal Battalion.

Convoys of vehicles will be leaving Camp Grayling at intervals all day on Saturday with the final units leaving sometime Saturday afternoon with the exception of a few troops left behind as a rear detachment to clean up and check in various items of equipment.

The big Crawford County military establishment will remain quiet then for a week until units of the 48th Infantry Division, Michigan National Guard arrive on Saturday, August 8th for their two weeks of intensive field training.

Indiana's field training this year was carried out under Brig. General William Phillips, Division commanding general and a staff of regular Army advisors.

With the completion of the two weeks training on Saturday, the Indiana Guardsmen will return to approximately 50 home addresses in 60 communities throughout Indiana. Upon arrival at their home stations, the Hoosier Guardsmen will unpack their equipment and begin within a few days a year long program of army training which will terminate in 1960 just prior to their two weeks of field training for next year which tentatively has again been set for Camp Grayling.

Another exercise of interest which took place last weekend was the graduation of 24 cadets to the bars of second Lieutenants in the Indiana National Guard from the Indiana Military Academy which was located at the Access both north and south will also be available at the north end of Grayling where the North downriver road will go over the planned expressway. At this point, traffic may get on headed north or traffic headed south may get off from the limited access highway.

In addition to these two exits and entrances to the planned highway, there will be three full interchanges in the county. One will be located at the intersection with the 4 mile road south of Grayling, another where the planned expressway will cross M-32 and the third at the intersection of County Road 612. A ramp interchange facility also will be built at the present US-27 and M-76 and M-18 corners.

These exits and entrances are what are in the plans at the present time, Crawford County Road Superintendent B. Bruce Carlson stated today. The only changes made from the original plans was to drop a cloverleaf at the M-72 intersection due to the high cost and the nearness of the location to the US-27 exit and entrance.

Letters To The Editor Start Drive In Lansing To Bring New Constitution To Michigan

Detroit, Michigan, July 16, 1959
Grayling, Michigan.

In your June 25 issue, Mr. Jack Schweigert lauds Mr. R. A. Phillips as a defender of public rights. Feeling that your paper is unbiased and willing to give space to both sides, we would like to present ours.

The property in Sections 13 and 24 T25N H2W South Branch Township, was acquired in 1937. The barrier was erected in 1939, one year after the Crawford County Ranch (now state) was established. It had erected a barrier between our property and theirs, preventing travel to the river. Their erection of the barrier was on the basis of a Crawford County Court decision, in their favor and affecting the river road on the opposite side of the river. The Attorney for the State of Michigan, in a letter dated November 29, 1939, quoted the court decision as follows:

"The extent to which a road is travelled does not govern. The law does not fix the number who must pass over a road in order to determine whether it exists by user. It must be used by the public, and the public are all who have occasion to use it. The mere fact that a portion of the public travels over a road for a number of years cannot make it a highway. The road must not only be travelled over but some action on the part of the Public Authorities, must have been shown from which it might be concluded that the authorities have taken charge of the highway."

The opinion of Albert B. Lincoln, former owner was solicited. He informed us the road was a private road, that the property had been used as a ranch for the grazing of cattle, and was fenced. The fence is still in place. Mr. Lincoln's sale to Rasmus Rasmussen of Grayling, father and grandfather of two of the present owners, reserved the right of removal of the fence, within two years (recorded last page 185 Crawford County).

All available facts including the Attorney General's letter, were presented to Mr. Harry Souder, then a Crawford County Road Commissioner. We indicated our willingness to an open road, if maintained in accordance with the court decision. Several weeks later Mr. Souder verbally informed us, they would not do so, as the road would terminate at the barrier erected by the Crawford County Ranch, with no possibility of its removal in view of the court decision.

We then posted a sign for 90 days informing all concerned the road would be closed on a certain date. No objections were registered. The road remained closed without incident from 1939 until 1958, when Mr. Phillips acquired land, for subdividing south of ours.

When we were asked by the Crawford County Road Commission to remove the barrier, we gave them all available facts in a letter dated August 8, 1958. Their reply dated August 27, 1958 being as follows:

"We wish to thank you for your very informative letter of August 8, 1958. We have reviewed all of the facts available, and upon the advice of our attorney we are going to drop all proceedings regarding the opening of the road in question. We will advise the parties interested in opening the road and if they desire to press for its opening they may do so."

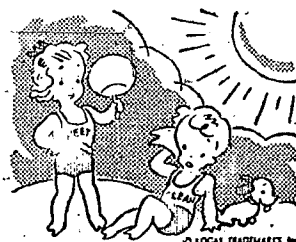

Within the last 20 days, the Crawford County Prosecuting Attorney informed us the Road Commission would not open the road, as it would lead to no place. The former caretaker of the Crawford County Ranch, is quite familiar with the erection of the barrier between our property and theirs in 1938. Mr. Jack Mason recently stated it was never his fathers intention that there be a road to the river at that point. The State Conservation Department must feel the same way about it. In a letter dated June 21, 1959 they wrote as follows:

"We are opposed to the continuation of the road to the banks of the South Branch of the AuSable, and if this road should be declared a public road, and opened for travel, we would probably wish to barricade it, at the point where it enters state owned land."

We feel that the above facts, justifies our position. It is in no way justifies the actions of Mr. Phillips, who has called some of our group vile names, removed our barriers, and threatened us with continued harassment until he drove us off our property.

We have sufficient faith in the people of Roscommon and South Branch Township, to feel that they do not condone such destruction and threatening tactics, including Mr. Phillips' carrying a shotgun, referred to by Mr. Schweigert as the shotgun incident. We have enjoyed our associations with the people of your community for 22 years. 21 of them without incident of friction. We are, all lawabiding citizens.

Sweet & Clean

ESPECIALLY IN SUMMER, SAYS MA. IT'S SUCH A TREAT, TO WASH CLOTHES AT THIS LAUNDRY, MAKES ONE FORGET THE HEAT!

A NEW DRIVE opened in Lansing to help Michigan get a new constitution.

A number of prominent attorneys want the Supreme Court to in effect order the State Board of Canvassers to rule enough votes were cast in November to call a constitutional convention.

In November, 821,282 voters favored calling a constitutional convention to rewrite the Michigan Charter, adopted in 1908. Only 608,365 opposed the proposal.

But, because of a 1949 ruling, the majority vote in November was not enough to call a convention. The State Board of Canvassers ruled that year a majority of all "those voting in the election," not just a majority of those voting on the question itself, was necessary to call the convention.

The Supreme Court upheld the board's 1949 ruling.

Two figures in the 1949 case have new roles in the 1959 case. Both are from Port Huron.

Attorney General Eugene F. Black, now a State Supreme Court justice, carried the board's ruling to the high court in 1949, with an assist from his deputy, Peter E. Bradt.

Bradt, now a Port Huron attorney, helped draft the petition asking the Supreme Court to reconsider the 1949 opinion.

Bradt noted revision was approved five times between 1949 and 1954 by a majority of those voting on the issue.

James E. Hengerty, Michigan State Bar president, was among the petitioners seeking reconsideration.

On two justices signing the 1949 opinion, John R. Dethmers and Leland W. Carr, are still on the court.

The petition they will consider argues the present constitution is unconstitutional because of "governmental and economic helplessness."

ONE OF THE LATEST amendments to the constitution allows the Legislature to make provisions for a "continuing" government in event of enemy attack.

The Legislature, at the urging of Civil Defense officials, took advantage of the amendment and passed two continuity of government laws, one for the state government and one for local government.

The governor would be required to appoint three "emergency" officers to assume the governor's duties if the governor and the Administrative Board are "unavailable" because of enemy attack.

Administrative Board members and officers of local government would appoint five interim successors.

Sponsors of the legislation issued this statement:

"While we pray that it will never be necessary to function under these bills, if we do have to, then these bills may be the most important measures before the legislature this session. "World tensions are increasing; atomic weapons are becoming more powerful; the means of delivering paralyzing destruction throughout the world are multiplying. There is no reason to panic or to become frightened. We do need, however, to plan and prepare insofar as human ingenuity permits for enemy attack and resultant disaster."

$1,500,000 EQUALS three minutes saved for thousands of drivers.

The name of Sen. John Stahlin (R-Belding) was not included in all of the advance publicity put out by the State Highway Department before ribbon-cutting ceremonies early in July for the new US-16 expressway that bypasses Portland, a community in Stahlin's district.

But what Stahlin said at the and will continue to be regardless of the outcome of a matter that Phillips should be willing to have resolved in a proper manner. We feel that his actions are highly unbecoming a realtor and representative of reputable Insurance Companies.

Letter To The Editor

Leon Abair of Orange Park, Fla., is visiting Albert Charron for a couple of months. July 19 they attended a Moose Lodge meeting at Mt. Pleasant. Following is a letter Mr. Abair received from Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Howse, who were in Florida last winter.

Dear Friend Leon:

Our visit with you at Moose-haven and the beauty of the place, most especially the atmosphere of content and happiness there, helped to make our winter vacation the very best ever. It's a dream come true for so many happy people. Even in the short time we were there we could sense the care and consideration that was given to the residents. It made us wish we could be there, too.

We saw Albert at Grayling and he talks of coming down, and he may do that some day. He doesn't look any older.

Grayling is losing two corner buildings at the traffic light. A new motel is being built on the old hospital site.

Thanks for the clipping you sent of the ball game. Old Casey Stengel had to step out, and high time! Such an awful start for Detroit this season.

Your city of content was a revelation to us and the attitude of the people, both residents and workers, made us realize that there is more good in the world than we know.

We surely will see you again, and thanks so much for your kindness to us.

Sincerely,
Art and Emma Howse

Bits O' Talk

The Rev. and Mrs. Alvin Johnson entertained the Rev. and Mrs. Paul Rowgo and family of Holland, Mich., for a few days this week. Last week their guests were the John Grooten family of Kalamazoo, who took the Johnsons' daughter, Ruth, home with them for a visit. Mrs. Johnson will bring her home this week. Mrs. Johnson's sister and family, the Rev. and Mrs. Gerald Swanson of Seattle, Washington, also spent a week recently at the Johnson home.

Mrs. Ernest Borchers entertained last Thursday with a family dinner at the Canaan, celebrating her son's birthday. About 15 guests were in the party.

Dr. and Mrs. R. L. Barrus and son, Joe, of Lansing are spending two weeks at their River home. Last week Wednesday Mrs. Ernest Borchers accompanied them to Traverse City to spend the day.

Mrs. John Hume and children, Craig, Carey and Nancy, and the late Mr. Hume's aunt, Mrs. Margaret Carey, all of Detroit, were in Grayling the past week, visiting friends. On Saturday, they made a trip to Harbor Springs for golf, returning Sunday to stay until Tuesday, when they were to return to Detroit.

The Bunco Club met last Thursday at the home of Mrs. Carl Larson. Miss Anne Marie Church was a guest, and she was also high prize winner. Mrs. Kip Papendick was second, and Mrs. Herbert Stephan was third. The prize went to Mrs. Henry Stephan. The club will meet next on August 6th, at the home of Mrs. Eva San-Cartier.

Mr. and Mrs. Gerald Smock and children, Debbie and Norm, are spending two weeks camping in the Upper Peninsula. They are expected home this week end.

Ronnie Smith of Battle Creek arrived last week end to visit his aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. John Cox and daughter, Joan, for two weeks. Mrs. Cox's father, Clair Smith, and aunt and uncle, Mr. and Mrs. Ed Wright of Carson City were here for a week, recently visiting the Cox family.

ceremonies made the department take notice.

"I checked the savings in time in traveling over the old highway through Portland as against traveling over the new $1,500,000 limited access highway and I found that by observing all traffic regulations, including stopping at the traffic light at the foot of the hill in Portland, three minutes were saved in traveling over the new route," he said.

Stahlin, one of the most active and most quoted of the freshman lawmakers, devoted his maiden speech early in the legislative session to the Highway Department. He said he was amazed at the number of "drumbeaters" the department had on its public relations staff.

The Belding Republican recently was on the losing side of a floor debate and returned to his seat, where he found a telegram that made him remark, "at least the people back home like me."

The telegram was from Dale Stafford, Greenville editor, who praised Stahlin for his fight for Freedom of Information legislation.

MUCH OF THE LEGISLATION passed in Lansing this year was designed to meet special problems in a specific community—but may affect other communities later on.

Once such piece of legislation was a bill to permit Royal Oak to proceed with redevelopment of its central business district.

The bill, which has been signed into law, permits money borrowed to build present parking lots to be repaid with money raised through special assessments on business property.

Lawnmowers said this bill may be used by other municipalities.

Blueprint of Destruction

A blueprint which could lead to the ultimate destruction of private medicine in the United States has been incorporated in a bill now before the House Ways and Means Committee. It would amend the Social Security Act so that some 16 million persons eligible for Social Security benefits and mostly over 65 years of age, would also be entitled to receive hospital, surgical and nursing home treatment under a government-run program.

Social Security taxes—already scheduled to reach 9% of payroll up to $4,800 in the years ahead—would have to go higher to pay the bill. And it would be a huge bill. It is estimated at more than $2 billion the first and second years, and the cost would steadily rise and pay checks decline for everyone under Social Security as the numbers of persons eligible for benefits increase year by year. Moreover, it is historically true that cost estimates for compulsory health insurance have invariably fallen ridiculously short of reality.

The rigidity of the government-controlled program would rule out the flexible approach so necessary to the proper development of care for the aged. Political intervention here cannot solve the problem, but it can destroy the effective work presently being done through voluntary co-operative effort by nurses, doctors, hospitals, social workers and insurance companies. Right now about 43% of our over-65 citizens are covered by health insurance and much of this progress has taken place in the past five or six years. This growth can be expected to continue so long as our elder citizens are free to choose from an increasingly wide variety of plans the sort of health insurance best suited to their individual need. It is reliably estimated that 75% of our older people who need and want such protection will be covered by voluntary health insurance by 1965, and 90% by 1970.

Compulsory health insurance was turned down by the American people once before. This is a case of socialism being sold under another name. It is unnecessary and its cost will be tremendously high in dollars. More important, it will be tremendously high in the damage which it would do in providing a pattern for the development of state-controlled medicine. There is no need here to adopt an alien system of compulsory medicine so destructive of the quality of medical care and degree of progress developed in this country and envied by the world.

Happy, Healthy Outdoor Vacation Time

People Read, Remember, And Buy

A recent nation-wide survey shows that more than three-quarters of the nation's retailers expect their summer business to exceed last year's, Editor & Publisher reports. Only 20% anticipate no change, and a mere 2% look for a decline.

It will take a lot of good advertising to bring the expected results about. And it's significant that newspapers will continue to be the retailers' foremost advertising medium. The survey finds that 72% of the stores surveyed plan to invest 80% or more of their summer advertising spending in the papers. And 57% will allocate at least nine-tenths of their ad budget to the papers.

All advertising media are in tough competition these days, with newspapers, magazines, TV, radio, and direct mail scrapping for a larger share of the ad dollar. But newspapers, despite the new media, hold their own—simply because newspaper ads get results. People read, remember, and buy.
